

Big Dipper

Eyes tight shut I floundered
And struggled through your wake
Thought the pool half-empty
With all the water that I drank
And as you left you waved to me
I smiled

waved back and sank